St. Athanasius Catholic Academy takes in new student after mother and son flee war-torn Ukraine

For 5th graders at St. Athanasius Catholic Academy – it's just another day of science and math problems. But 11-year-old Theodore Gaynullin's problems have gone far beyond this classroom.

"I am afraid of the war [in] Russia, it's dangerous, it was boom and 'psssh' when we were on the train," he said.

This time two weeks ago, Theodore was walking with his mom Ellen and thousands of other Ukrainians through endless villages along the western border – hoping to make it safely to Poland – not knowing what the future would hold.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS— Bishop Robert Brennan is asking the faithful in Brooklyn and Queens to “support our Ukrainian brothers and sisters” affected by the war.

“We have seen the painful images of devastation and continue to hear of the suffering and the deaths caused by the war in Ukraine,” Bishop Brennan said in a statement. “Our hearts and prayers go out to all those affected by this terrible war, most especially those who have been forced to flee their homes.”

Brooklyn Catholic Schools Win First and Second Place at FIRST Lego League Robotics Championship

The Office of Catholic Schools for the Diocese of Brooklyn is excited to announce that two Brooklyn Catholic schools won top honors at this past weekend's First Lego League City Championship, which featured STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math) projects from 75 Catholic and public schools from across the five boroughs.

St. Saviour Catholic Academy, in Park Slope, took home the First Place trophy, and St. Joseph the Worker Catholic Academy, in Windsor Terrace, placed second in the contest. The theme of the competition was “Cargo Connect,” with each team having to identify a problem and develop a program and robot to solve it.

The 2022 Annual Catholic Appeal Respond in Faith, Hope, and Charity- Your Participation is Vital

By Bishop Robert Brennan

Through our common baptism in Christ, each of us shares the responsibility of the Church community both to proclaim and live the Joy of the Gospel and the Splendor of truth.

Just like the first Apostles, we always seek to know the Lord Jesus closely and deeply, seeking His help and guidance in all things. But also like them, we are sent out to the world, which so desperately needs to know Him — perhaps even without realizing so.

As a Church, we are stronger together. Think about what we accomplish together. If it were not for the commitment of parishioners throughout the Diocese to the Annual Catholic Appeal each year, the ability of the Church to provide some of the basic services and ministries in the Diocese of Brooklyn would be impossible.

The Church in Brooklyn and Queens has long been a place where the Gospel has been preached in such a way that those hearing it have had the opportunity to be transformed in the love of Christ.
